

SHARP FIELDING FOR BUGS

Bussey Outpitched by Vance, but Teammates Give Him Great Support.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Norfolk, Va., August 11.—Although outpitched over two to one, Pitcher Bussey yesterday afternoon had the luck to get away with his first game, 5 to 0, thanks to the sharp fielding of his team mates. Vance was going in great shape, but the lone base on balls he gave, and the two errors his backer put behind his delivery, helped the Bugs across with two runs, only one hit being made in the two innings in which scores crossed the plate.

And then, one Rickert, in the ninth, when the Tars had started a great batting rally, and seemed about to win, made a brilliant flying catch between left and center, that unquestionably saved the game for his team. It was one of the greatest catches of the season, and the crowd stopped long enough to pay tribute to the player, although the game was over. Then he hit it. With two out, Bigbie stabbed the ball safe to the outfield. Skipper Clark immediately waived Reggy back, and sent in Munsen, who met the first ball pitched for a single.

Two were out before this happened. Johnson was waived to the bench, and grabbing a stick Clark took his place at the bat, and singled to left, fast fielding, holding Bigbie at third. The crowd was on its feet making some noise when Vance struck his position at the bat. He met one square on the nose and it went flying, a line-drive between the two fields. The crowd set up a yell of joy, for no one thought that Rickert could get to it, and the two men were springing for the plate at a 2-10 gate. But he got it, and the game was over. Had he failed there is no question that it would have taken up at the fence, and all three men would have scored. It was a life-saving catch, and no mistake.

The game all through was fast and pretty. A number of brilliant plays were pulled off, and the Bugs showed a large quantity of ginger, being backed by a number of fans from Danville, who made themselves heard throughout the nine innings.

A free pass to Sullivan, sacrifice by Mayberry, advance to third on Griffin's infield out, and Busch's error on Hooker's grounder, gave the Bugs a run in the first.

In the seventh Griffin laid one down and beat it out. Hooker sacrificed, Rickert sent up a fly to Busch. Schroeder sent a liner to Reggy, who threw wild to first, and Griffin scored. Priest was easy via short to first.
